BIRGU – TOWNHOUSE Traditional townhouse situated in Birgu, spread over several levels and retaining many original Maltese features. On entering, you find a large entrance/living area, with traditional patterned tiles and stone features. From the ground floor, a staircase also leads down to a cellar, providing useful additional space. The property continues into additional rooms at the back, which can be used as living, dining or kitchen areas depending on the final layout. A traditional stone staircase leads to the upper floors, where there are several good-sized rooms suitable as bedrooms, together with a bathroom. The property continues onto the upper level, providing further space and access towards the roof area. The townhouse requires renovation but offers plenty of potential to create a lovely traditional home while keeping features such as the stone staircase, exposed limestone and Maltese tiles.
